Great Riot at Chagres.

The riot at Chagres arose out of an attempt | Beecher, Poly on the part of foreign boatmen to prevent the natives from carrying passengers to and from the steamers in the harbor because they sometimes transported them for a less price than the tariff fixed by the Foreign Boat Club.

On the 22d, a native boatman was attacked riet M 2 and a Reville becten by some one on the American side. The greatest excitement prevailed Carpenter, Miss Claon the other side of the river, the population of natives and Jamaica negroes turned out Cassort. Frederick armed with guns, sabros, S.c. and crossed the Chapet Morrit Control Morrit river in a body. Most of the bustmen fled to Cotton, Miss Louisa the woods, but several shots were fired by the Cortright, Levi assilants—foreigners were wounded.

No vinlence was then offered to passengers. Cotler. Edward or The natives and negroes were constantly de Hugh Booher claring that their quarrel was only with the Daniels J J boatmen and that they would do no harm to Davis, Daniel the Californians.

Shuts were fired, however, at the American Doty, Silas Consul. Mr. Gleanon, againts whom they were Dresser, Cephas B greatly exasperated as he was the owner of Eldridge, Henry several boats, and it was understood he took Estin, Dana part with and sustained the foreign boatmen in their unjust assumption. During the night, a theoring was held on the Actions side, at which a number of passengers were present, and the was resolved that if any native heat crossed the Fuller, Mrs Hannah A civer in the morning to take passengers off the Galop. Joseph Cherokee, the Mails and Treasurer having arrived, they should fire into.

Next morning all was quiet on the Spanish German. Hubbard side; and about 8 o'clock a large number of Giasgow, Miss Jane natives had crossed the river unsuspicious of Granger, Mary any danger, to take off passengers to the steam-Several of these were filed with travelers | Henry, John 2 and their baggage; when suddenly regardless Hess, John of these last, a murderous fire was opened up- Hicks, Miss Harcelia on them by the American boatmen assisted by many Californians; and in a few minutes several boats were computed of their occupants and riddled with shots, were seen drifting out to sea; the number killed and drowned it is impossible to say; those of the natives who escaped the fire, which was continued so long as a boat belonging to them was in reach, paddled back to their own side of the iver, where the most belonging to them was in reach, paddled back to their own side of the river, where the most fearful excitement prevails. The streets were please say "Adve-tised." S. CHANDLER, P. M. again thronged with armed men, with redoubled numbers, and death to every American was shouted from every quarter.

A restrered fire from the other side was commenced along the beach, and the most furious cries of vengeance filled the six; presently there was a cry of Al Castillo, and hundreds of them hurried up the hill to the Old Fort; powder was procured, and some of the smaller of the old gues were mounted on the wall, and adjusted to hear upon the American town; and firing was commenced apparently with round shot.—
About this time we saw two Americans, whom we recognized as passengers on the Oregon. surrounded by natives, who were cutting at them with sabres, in the most savage manner; they were finally thrust into a houseland the door closed. One of them we afterwards saw at the Bruish Mail Company's agent, dreadfully mangled and cut but still breathing. Of the other, nothing could be heard at the time we write-little doubt of his death.

Mr. S. C. Hackett, of Burford & Cu's Expresss, got all his packages safely off, remaining until the last to see the baggage all on board the boats. Fortunatly about this time, a boat with an English flag was seen coming up the river, which was known to belong to the Eaglish steamship, and soon after it landed the embarcaders on our side of the river. A brief note, describing the position of affairs, was written to the officers commanding the boat requesting aid. Soon afteawards, Symones, commander of the Mednya, accompanied by another officer in uniform, and a few of the Janaica negroes, whom he had apparently enlisted on his side, appeared at the house, and as hurriedly as possible, took all the ladies away under his charge. Capt. Symonds said that there would soon be two more of which, as we learned afterwards, was to take off the Treasure intended for the Cherokee, and if it were pos sible, he would then carry off the remainder

Some two hours afterwards, the boats arriv ed, and taking advantage of the panic which driven most of the people from that part of the town by the intelligence that a cannon from the Dherokee had been planted on the other side of the river. We sailed forthwith. Capt. Symonds, and a't the baggage was in his boats The Treasure was on board the English launch and Mr. Clifton, the mate, and Mr. Boyce, the purser of the Cherokee, sided by the conductor of the train. Mr. Follon succeeded in getting it all, about $2.500,000, out of the launches in which it came down the river in the English specie vault in which they with the boats erew under their charge were compelled to lock themselves up for safety during the heat of the excitement How many were kiled in all, it is difficult to say.

I have recently exemined a building that stood eight years without painting. About six years since, Mr. Bloka applied one cout of his five proof paint, by way of experiment. I now find it as firm as a tors, and as perfect on all appearance, as it was a year after applied; and will further say, that there has been such a complete feiture in all the kinds of staff got up here, colled five proof paint, except Blake's, and that his only is considered worth using.

BLAKE'S PATENT FIRE PROOF PAINT.

DURABILITY.—It has now been tested more than six years by the severest trials, and in every case the action of the weather seems only to indurate and render it more and more permanent. In no instance has it ever been known to crack, cleare off, or waste by time Certificates.

"We have also seen a substance got up and sold by different persons, called "Fire Proof Paint," which spots and fades as badly, that the buildings we have seen evered with it in a few months, present such an appearance that no person, we believe, after seeing these would use it if given them. We consider blake's Pat ent Fire Proof Paint the only fire-proof paint that is made in this country worth using "
